5 Read the text from Chapter Four. Choose the correct answers below (Right, Wrong or Does not say).

The lion was moving away from the house, with the cook's wife in his mouth. Now the cook was only ten metres from the lion. Robert Sanford was thirty metres behind him. Sanford stopped, pointed his gun up and shot into the air. There was a huge noise. The lion stopped and turned his head; the woman was still in his mouth. Then he dropped the cook's wife on to the ground and ran away.

The cook reached his wife first, then Sanford, then me. I could not believe what I saw. The woman was sitting up and smiling at her husband.

"Where are you hurt?" asked Sanford.

"I'm not hurt. I wasn't afraid," the woman said, and she smiled. "He could not hurt me. I just acted dead, and he didn't even bite through my clothes."
