7 Read the text. Choose the correct answer (Right, Wrong or Does not say) below.

I began to enjoy being outside with the pale moon already in the sky. I stopped at a stile and looked over the fields.

Suddenly a huge black and white dog appeared in front of me. It was followed by a large black horse with a man on its back. He rode on a few metres, and then there was the sound of the horse's feet on ice. I heard the man shout, before both he and the horse fell on the road. I immediately moved forward and helped the man to his feet.

"Are you hurt, sir?" I asked.

He tried to walk, but then he cried out. A few metres away, the horse slowly climbed back on to its feet.

"Can I do anything?" I asked.

"You must stand on one side of me," the man said, and he put his arm around my shoulders. I helped him walk slowly to the stile, where he sat down.

"It is only my foot. It will be fine," he said. Then he shouted, "Pilot, come here!"

The huge dog came and sat by his side. There was still enough light to see the man's face. He had dark, angry eyes and thick black hair. He was tall, and he was about thirty-five years old.
